Fund-raisers curbed

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Fund raising on state highways in the city missed one roadblock but remains stalled at another.

Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer's effort to put a solicitation ordinance on final passage died for lack of a second at the City Council meeting Tuesday.

The ordinance would have kept some groups from raising money at highway intersections, but its failure stops them all because the city will continue to operate under a "no-roadblocks rule."

The proposal would have required local organizations to be engaged in a statewide fund raising activity to have a roadblock on a highway.

SIXTH WARD Alderman Woody

Moad asked City Attorney Mark Goldenberg if the provision could be removed.

Goldenberg said state highways remain the jurisdiction of the state government, and that the city's home rule provision may not apply. He said he would further research the ordinance, taken from the Illinois Revised Statutes.

The large number of roadblocks held at Nameoki and Johnson roads is a problem, said 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fisk.

"REGARDLESS of what we do with this, we've got to come to grips with this situation," said 4th Ward Alderman Tom Hewitt. "A lot of people are bugged by this."

Third Ward Alderman Brett Hanke tried to amend the ordinance

Court delays decision in District 9 suit Redmond, Worthen testify

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

EAST ALTON — A decision in the suit brought by David Partney against fellow District 9 Board of Education members may be delayed for two months.

The decision was delayed by Nick Byron, Madison County associate judge, after he heard testimony all day Wednesday. Byron gave attorneys on both sides 30 days to prepare notes on the case for his review.

Partney sued each board member for allegedly violating the Illinois Open Meetings Act. His suit states board talked about general job descriptions in a closed meeting on March 25 in violation of the law.

All District 9 board members except Jolene Terrell testified at the hearing in the Madison County Courthouse extension in East Alton. Former District 9 Superintendent Max Redmond, Superintendent Ceb Walsley and personnel director Terry Salem also testified.

Questioning by Partney's attorney, Leon Scroggins, Granite City, was aimed at proving the board violated the act March 25 by allegedly discussing district financial matters and related job changes in a closed meeting.

Scroggins gave into evidence a copy of a transparent sheet that listed district financial projections. The board reportedly examined and discussed figures from the transparency in the closed portion of the March 25 meeting.

Defense witnesses said the estimated finances, including teachers and administrators salaries, could have hurt future contract negotiations with the teachers' union. The discussion would be allowed, they said, under the act's "negotiations" exemption.

"If this information becomes public, the union would zero in on those numbers" and use them in future negotiations, board member Monroe Worthen testified. Worthen was the district's chief negotiator.

Scroggins asserted the financial information used to prepare the estimates was available to the public and the union.

More arrests and crimes in Madison

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — A 9 percent increase in serious crimes was shown in the annual report given by Chief of Police Charles Bricker at a City Council meeting Tuesday night.

Arrests also increased in 1986, and the area served is bigger than in the past due to annexation of land to the south.

In crimes against persons, 14 of the 114 reports were made by members of two families involved in a feud; another reason for the increase in such reports was the impact of the new Illinois Domestic Violence Act, the chief said.

BRICKER CITED 48 arrests for criminal actions and quasi-crimes in 1986, compared to 346 in 1985.

A summary of persons arrested in 1985 and 1986 showed 429 adult arrests increasing to 578, and 85 juvenile arrests increasing to 115.

In reviewing the report with the council, Bricker said, "It is my professional opinion that the work being performed by the officers of this department shows great pride, professionalism and dedication and a willingness to serve this community."

Officers credited with arrests included: Chief Bricker, 20 arrests; Det. W.C. Bick, 30; Sgt. Paul Bargiel, 21; Patrolman Don Bricker, 51; Patrolman Steve Skokko, 109; Patrolman Richard Ballew, 201; Patrolman David Moehle, 62; Patrolman David Moehle, 175; and Patrolman David Moehle, 217.

DUI (driving under the influence) arrests increased from 25 in 1984 to 75 in 1985 and then decreased to 35 last year.

Sewer problems down the drain?

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Ending flooded basements and millions of dollars in sewer line repairs could occur if a Corps of Engineers' plan is adopted.

Sixty wells and pumps costing $80 million would be put mainly in the area's groundwater trouble spots: Granite City, Cahokia and Centreville. The system would annually cost about $365,000 to operate, according to the study.

THE STUDY suggests $2.5 million could be saved out of the area's $3 million in annual sewer damage.

The well plan was presented to area officials Jan. 5 at the Collinsville Hilton by Dan Marshall, St. Louis, the Corps member who prepared the study.

"The meeting we had on Jan. 5 was to urge people to band together," he said.

THE PLAN calls for 12 wells in Granite City, 36 in the Cahokia/Centreville Township area, 2 in Madison, 3 in Venice and 7 in the East St. Louis and East Carondelet areas.

The 100-foot-deep wells, with pumps, could pull 41 million gallons a day out of the ground. Water flowing through Madison County could go into the Mississippi Lake or the Mississippi River, and water in St. Clair County could empty into the river, Marshall said.

The surface water drainage system operated by the Metro East Sanitary District should channel the water, he said.

Other ways to fund the well project are acceptable to Greathouse, he said.

"JUST GIVE ME the money to do the thing," he said. Increasing MESD's boundaries is not politically feasible, said Sam Mostoufi, Illinois Division of Water Resources.

"It was discussed (Jan. 5), but that is a good way to kill the project. You can't just say, 'We did it, we're done,'"

THE GROUNDWATER level has risen steadily in recent years; as much as 5 feet, increases in rainfall and river stages, and less underground water used by industry as a result of plant closings, are major reasons the level is up.

Many sewer lines and basements were built when the level was low and now they're sustaining water damage.

"Houses were built with basements perhaps where they shouldn't have been," Marshall said.

THE CORPS' study would concentrate wells in Granite City and Cahokia because the communities have the worst sewer line damage, Marshall said.

A well and pump tested for two days in June by the Corps in Granite City was successful, Marshall said.

"We did prove to ourselves that deep-water pumping can bring the water level down," Marshall said.

THE WELL was handed over to Nameoki Township, MESD and Granite City for a year of testing under a joint venture.

According to Corps information, not using the pumping system will annually cost American Bottoms communities about $2.5 million at 1986 prices. Most damage will be in Granite City, Cahokia and Centreville Township.

Local communities will decide if they want the system and how they'd pay for it.

"The bottom line is money," Marshall said.

Boundary expansion requires action by the Legislature or a referendum involving communities to be in the district, he said.

49th annual dance Saturday in Venice

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer
VENICE — The 49th annual Venice Crippled Children's benefit ball will take place at 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 31, at the Venice-Madison American Legion Hall, 740 Broadway.

Tom Fields, president of the Venice Crippled Children's Organization, the sponsoring group, said tickets costing $2 each will be available at the door Saturday night.

THE BENEFIT EVENT is hosted by the Venice group each January and is open to the public. The Larry Mantese Orchestra will provide music for dancing from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

"We are hoping to boost the attendance this year to 250-plus people," Fields said earlier.

For the first time, special invitations were printed and mailed to supporters in an effort to generate at least $5,000 to continue aiding children's groups, the ball chairman said.

PROCEEDS from the dance help to support work at the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children and similar institutions aiding children and young people.

Recipients include the Shriners Burns Center, St. Louis Children's Hospital, March of Dimes Foundation, Salk Institute and Organization

New program to include all phases of back rehabilitation

On Jan. 27, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City, introduced a new service to the community — The Back Care Program.

Designed to include all phases of back rehabilitation, the program consists of two 90-minute sessions conducted by a registered physical therapist.

Classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday, from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m., in the Going Strong Wellness Center, located in the newly refurbished McKinley School Building, 22nd and Iowa streets, across from the medical center.

Session I is designed to educate the patient with a basic understanding of the structure and function of the spine, proper posture, and body mechanics as applied to work and leisure activities. Emphasis on the importance of good nutrition, general physical fitness and stress control in the management of back injuries will also be discussed.

Session II is designed to allow the patients to practice proper posture, body mechanics, and correct procedures for lifting. Each participant will receive a back booklet and lumbar roll at no extra charge.

The class will be held to a maximum of 10 participants. Instruction will be carried out through audio-visual programs, demonstrations, and active participation by the class members. Each is required to have a physician's referral prior to attending.

For more information, the SEMC Physical Therapy Department can be called at 798-3133, or one's personal physician can be contacted.

Japan being asked to invest in state

Gov. James R. Thompson's investment mission to Japan will involve meetings with Japanese investment bankers and representatives of automotive suppliers and heavy industries.

"We have a full itinerary of meetings with Japanese companies," he said. "We will be reviewing our discussions with several firms which have expressed interest in Illinois and reaffirming our desire to do business."

In Tokyo on Jan. 28, Thompson was to meet with Mitsubishi Motors Corp. President Toyoo Tate and Yooichi Nakane, president of Diamond-Star Motors. He also planned to call on the Japan External Trade Organization and host a dinner for 25 possible investors and bankers.

Thompson will travel to Kyoto on Jan. 29 and Osaka on Jan. 30 for other meetings, returning to Chicago on Feb. 1.

Accompanying him are Jay R. Hedges, Department of Commerce and Community Affairs director, four staff members and three security personnel.

"Diamond-Star, Bloomington, has already attracted new industry to Illinois," Hedges said. "Our Automotive Corridor of Opportunity is also attractive to potential suppliers who will serve the Fuji-Isuzu plant in Lafayette."

"Japanese businesses are serious by looking for investments in the U.S. Missions like this emphasize that we want them to consider Illinois first."

SCHOLARSHIP DONATION to create a scholarship fund for members of Bethel 43, Order of Job's Daughters, is presented by Mrs. Dorothy Beck, left, to Charlotte Root, Bethel guardian. Mrs. Beck, a former local resident and former member of Bethel 43, started the fund to aid young women with their education.

Bethel scholarship fund is started by Mrs. Beck

Mrs. Dorothy Beck has contributed and started an Honored Queens Scholarship Trust Fund for Bethel 43 of the International Order of Job's Daughters in Granite City.

Mrs. Beck, the former Dorothy Elftoff of Granite City, was the honored queen from December 1947 to June 1948.

She and her husband, Alvin, started the CPI Corp. many years ago after buying a small studio in St. Louis. CPI has 170 mini labs across the country for portrait photography. Sears is their oldest and largest customer. Mrs. Beck is vice president and her husband is president of CPI Corp., located in St. Louis.

Mrs. Beck contacted Bethel Guardian Charlotte Root and presented the scholarship fund certificate in the form of 750 shares of CPI stock, valued at $37 per share as of the transfer date of Dec. 17. Each honored queen beginning with the present queen of Bethel 43 will receive a $1,000 scholarship for college if the queen decides to attend college.

The former Granite City resident said Job's Daughters meant much to her when she was a member. "It is a fine organization for teenage girls. It's a big responsibility to be queen, but it also teaches the girls leadership qualities they will need in life," she said.

Honored Queen Melanie Paschedag will be the first recipient of a scholarship. A junior student at Granite City High School, she plans to attend college in the fall of 1988.

She said she was thrilled, and all of the girls said they were excited when they were informed of the news at the meeting of Jan. 13, Mrs. Root said.

Mrs. Beck said she hopes there will be "many more contributions to the scholarship fund to help these girls with their college and professional careers. Any contributions will be greatly appreciated."

Fund-raising events to aid the fund also are being considered.

Classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, now through March 19, from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. in the Going Strong Wellness Center, located in the basement of the newly refurbished McKinley School Building, 22nd and Iowa streets, across from the medical center. Let's be fair to our neighbors

Members of the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees apparently recognize the inequality inherent in the manner of their election.

Because St. Clair County has the greatest population, it is able to control board membership while the district's seven other counties, all required to pay district taxes, are left without hope of electing representatives from their respective areas.

Several board members, including President Wayne Reynolds, embraced the idea of changing the election process as proposed Friday by state Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City. Others were cautious, saying they needed to study the proposal, but none said he opposes House Bill 143.

Wolf would divide the district into seven segments, just as a city is divided by wards. The sub-districts would be equally populated and each would elect a representative. The measure would balance board representation.

Fifty-two percent of the county tax money received by BAC in fiscal 1985 came from counties with insufficient clout to elect representatives to the Board of Trustees. In Madison County, where there is interest in seeing Granite City Campus advance, many feel cheated because the system leaves little hope that the county can elect a representative.

Under representation exists in other district locations. In Washington County, for example, few could be expected to know any candidates and that minimizes the reason to vote. The chance of a Washington County resident getting elected under the present system is remote, just as it is for residents of Monroe, Randolph, Bond, Perry and Montgomery counties.

Those who pay taxes deserve an equal voice in determining how their taxes are spent, but they won't have it until the election system changes.

No fair-minded board member, or citizen interested in a representative form of government, will oppose House Bill 143.

Court wrong on night soliciting

The law of our land is defined by the U.S. Supreme Court. We have to respect and obey it, but we don't have to agree with it. When convinced it is wrong, we can try to persuade the court to change its mind.

One such case was erroneously decided by the high court last week. It voted 6-3 to bar communities from limiting door-to-door solicitation to hours when some working people are not at home. A Watseka, Ill., ordinance was ruled unconstitutional.

Free-speech rights were cited by the court as it prevented Watseka from designating 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday as appropriate residential soliciting hours.

The court challenge was filed by the Illinois Public Action Council, a group that has caused some consternation in Granite City with its after-dark knocks on front doors. The group seeks to represent low- and moderate-income people in energy, tax and economic development matters.

We found an IPAC solicitor to lack any detailed knowledge of how the group would make use of local contributions. Just how would it try to protect us on fuel, taxation and development matters? What assurance did we have that a cash gift would reach its destination? We didn't get satisfactory answers.

But aside from any imperfections in those doing the canvassing, a key point is one's understandable desire not to have to open the door to unknown persons after dark. (A family does not have to open its door, of course, but it does have to decide, and quickly, what to do when a stranger comes calling unexpectedly.)

As the Illinois city fathers said, it ought to be allowable to protect citizens from "practices deemed subversive of privacy and of quiet. We have only to watch the news reports on TV or read the newspaper to become aware that murder, rape, theft, robbery and fraudulent schemes are a frequent byproduct of home invasions."

How stadium issue was solved

Rival stadium proposals have complicated St. Louis city-county cooperation in recent months, and the friction continues. Perhaps an Illinois example of a solution may be helpful. (No, we aren't suggesting a stadium in Illinois, although the world-champion football Giants do play in New Jersey rather than New York.)

A new Illinois law, signed Jan. 19, sets in motion the construction of a baseball stadium across the street from Comiskey Park in south Chicago. The signing ceremony took place at home plate in Comiskey, the oldest park in the major leagues. The White Sox had considered moving, but now will stay.

Bonds totaling no more than $120 million will finance the new stadium. The bonds will be issued by a seven-member board appointed by the governor and mayor. The board will have the authority to impose a 2 percent hotel-motel tax in Chicago. It can condemn existing property, except for churches, schools and public housing.

The state and city will make available up to $5 million a year to help pay debt service and other expenses, with both contributions being drawn down simultaneously. The White Sox will pay a minimum of $4 million a year in rent. On a 10-year basis, the stadium and its operations will produce 1,350 full-time jobs a year and 2,000 part-time jobs. The state will collect $5.3 million in sales taxes when the ball park is finished.

We don't know if this particular formula would work in St. Louis, but it has ended fear that one of Chicago's top professional teams would move to another city.

In case more details about the Chicago stadium plan are sought, its Senate sponsor is situated mighty close to St. Louis. He is Sen. Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville.

AND NOW... REV. ORAL ROBERTS WOULD LIKE TO MAKE ONE LAST PLEA FOR DONATIONS....

Fears abuse of power by city staff

To the editor:

In a Jan. 22 Press-Record article, Mayor Von Dee Cruse said the realtors used "Gestapo tactics" in their newspaper advertisement about the housing ordinance.

For a man who is encouraging the passage of near-total "police state" in their newspaper advertisement about the housing ordinance, this choice of words seems to indicate the thinking behind this ordinance.

Is this a case of the pot calling the kettle black?

I believe that the mayor and City Council are angry because they let the public know what they were trying to do. Also, they realize that, if this was put to a referendum vote, it would stand a slim chance of passing, and they were caught trying to slip it through.

Does anyone believe that the mayor or the council really cares about the voters who put them in office? If there is someone who believes this, let me remind them about the telephone tax.

Most people are under the impression that this occupancy ordinance is calling for stricter housing codes. It is not; there is nothing in the ordinance about stricter codes. What it does is to give the city inspectors awesome powers by eliminating people's rights to due processes under law.

If this is passed, the city will have the authority to dictate to a property owner when to put in a new furnace, new roof, new sidewalk, new windows and/or doors, or just about anything that you can imagine, including a new toilet.

If you should disagree with them, they will have the authority to have a contractor do the work and you will pay the bill or have your property tied up in legal proceedings.

If you do not agree with your friendly inspector, there is an appeal board. Board members are appointed by the mayor, who also appoints the inspector. What do you think your chances are of this board ruling in your favor?

What could happen if your political views are opposite the mayor's?

The mayor and the council say that the power will not be used unscrupulously. Possibly not, but what about five or 10 years from now? We could have inspectors who abuse their power.

I keep my property in good repair, but if an inspector wanted, I am sure he could nip-pick my home or yours and write up many code violations. I would not want to get into a disagreement with any city officials if this is passed.

According to the Jan. 22 Press-Record, the Board of Realtors now thinks that it is all right to pass this ordinance if it exclude owner-occupied, single-family homes.

This is the same ordinance that they termed unconstitutional. Evidently they believe that persons owning rental property do not have constitutional rights to due process under the law. Why single out this one group to apply such strong tactics to?

It saddens me to realize just how far we have slipped since the time this great United States was established. What has happened to each person's individual freedoms? Do we need a "big brother" to legislate every single thing for us?

CONCERNED RESIDENT

Paramedics are skilled and dedicated

To the editor:

Mrs. M.G. "Mike" Reinhardt and her family are citing the members of the paramedical team of the Granite City Fire Department, specifically John Miller, David Jenkins, Butch Mink and Dan DeRousse, for their sincere concern and professionalism in an effort to save my father's life. He was stricken with respiratory arrest and a heart attack at his home on Jan. 19, 1987.

After a very quick response to the call, each member of the team in attendance displayed unselfish energy and dedication to their critical task.

They worked feverishly through the bleak possibility that they could save this fellow human being. It has been said that "noble deeds...are most esteemed." If there are any members of our community who are not aware of this unwritten valor of our public servants, I would like to publicly praise them for their efforts.

They certainly are friends that we can fall back on in times of need. DR. RICHARD C. REINHARDT

Need to plan for next energy crisis

To the editor:

There is a small cloud on the horizon to which we are paying little attention.

The OPEC nations appear to be getting together a little on oil production. How much cooperation there will be among them we don't know.

There is at least the possibility they will get together once again and we will soon find ourselves in the same mess we had in the mid-1970s.

We also seem to quickly forget conservation measures adopted during the shortage years as soon as oil prices fall and supplies increase.

Recent reports show U.S. oil imports last year rose to their highest level since 1980. The imports were up 22 percent in 1986, the American Petroleum Institute said.

What are we doing to prepare for another energy crisis? Nothing. You mean there are no plans to deal with such an emergency? None.

But, some will argue, we have a strategic petroleum reserve we have been building up, a huge storage of oil that we could use in an emergency.

That would make sense, and help some, but the administration wants to get rid of the strategic oil reserves that we have.

The world's most powerful economic power, the United States, has no long-term coordinated energy policy.

If tomorrow there would be a sudden cutoff in oil from Saudi Arabia, our biggest supplier, we are not prepared to do more than stumble through, groping for answers.

We should be doing more planning and more research. How can we more effectively and more widely use gasoline produced from corn? How can we encourage more conservation? How can we more effectively use the vast coal resources of our nation?

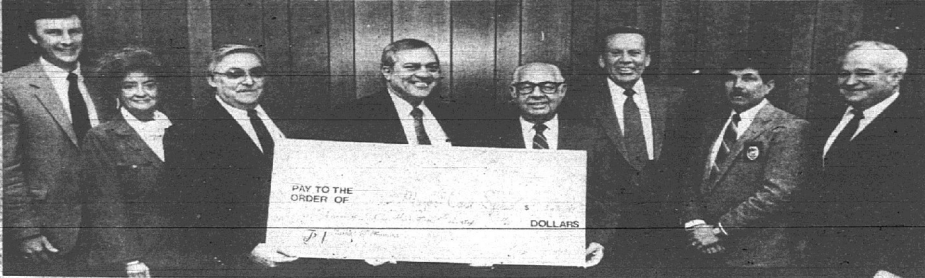

What should we be doing to plan for the day when our present nuclear energy facilities start aging and need to be replaced?

A host of questions should be concerning us. But we are driving along each day, assuming that today's abundance of oil and gasoline will continue without interruption.

It will not, and we had better prepare ourselves.

Last year, I cosponsored a bill offered by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas to help address the problem. Under the bill, any year that imported oil accounted for more than half of our energy usage, the President would have to come up with a policy to make us less reliant on imported oil.

I don't have all the answers as to what should be done, but one thing is certain: It is folly to assume that a tomorrow that is less abundant in oil and gasoline will never come. U.S. SEN. PAUL SIMON

Walter Milton, committee chairman; Granite City Police Chief Bill Harris, a committee member; Simpkins; Frank J. Leber of the Friends of the Major Case Squad executive group; Police Capt. Dan Chapman, commander of the Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis; and R C Bush, chamber executive vice president.

Area cited as 'caring community'

By Valerie Evenden

Granite City — "What you have done deserves recognition and indicates that your people care," Joe Simpkins, a St. Louis businessman and head of the Friends of the Major Case Squad fund-raising drive, said Friday.

Out of 92 municipalities asked for contributions in the greater St. Louis area, only four responded and your contribution was four times as much as the other three.

Simpkins and Capt. Dan Chapman, Major Case Squad commander, accepted a $5,360 check Friday morning at the Granite City Police Station.

The check represented local contributions toward buying urgently needed radio and computer equipment for the investigative squad.

"This definitely says something for your police departments, Chamber of Commerce and the citizens of your area."

"I THINK a good headline for this story is 'A Community That Cares,'" Simpkins said, holding a king-size version of the actual check.

The concentrated drive was spearheaded here by the Crime Prevention and Awareness Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Led by Walter Milton, chairman, the committee agreed in October to sponsor the local drive, setting a $5,000 goal.

"YOUR CONTRIBUTION WILL greatly enhance our effort when we are called out," Chapman said.

"We were activated in Granite City a few months ago (due to the Hoffman murders) and you treated our men probably better than any other area that we have been called to work," the squad commander said.

"Officers assigned to the Major Case Squad are paid only for eight hours of duty. Anything over that period, they donate that time themselves."

"WITH YOUR contribution we can afford a computer system and radios... whatever is needed to work these homicides," the Dellwood, Mo., captain said.

Milton gave credit to local business firms and individuals in achieving the goal, saying the funds came also from Madison, Pontoon Beach and surrounding areas.

"The Major Case Squad is important to us and it does a great job. This was a major program of our committee."

"We targeted a $5,000 goal and exceeded it because of the business people, the private sector and individuals."

"WE DO LIVE in a community that cares and I am speaking for all the Quad-City Area," Milton said.

Granite-Citians and Madison residents have recent knowledge of the value of Major Case Squad membership.

The slaying of Carl and Susan Hoffman on April 30, 1986, and the Theresa Kichler case of some years ago are cited as examples.

MORE RECENTLY, the squad was activated in two Nov. 17 murders and a suicide in Madison, where three members of a family were found dead.

The Major Case Squad of Greater St. Louis is a tight-knit organization of highly trained and dedicated law enforcement professionals, who respond instantly when major crimes are committed and help is needed, a spokesman said.

Established in 1964, the squad has been called in on the most difficult crimes in the metropolitan bi-state region.

FOR THE FIRST TIME in its history, the squad last summer went public with its financial needs. With the help of a committee of civic leaders, a fund drive was initiated in St. Louis.

The campaign raised $37,770, or about half of the $75,000 which was sought.

Communication is crucial to the squad's tasks and about $45,000 was required for a radio network to be based in the squad's van. The van was donated last year by a businessman, along with a used station wagon.

THE REMAINDER of the donated funds will be used to buy more investigative and emergency equipment, including a computer to provide a link with a regional law enforcement system.

Squad members participate voluntarily without funding for the unit, without overtime pay, without a permanent office or vehicle (until the van was recently donated), and with little equipment.

For the past 22 years, the squad had survived solely on contributions of money and equipment from some area business, officials said.

THE SQUAD now consists of 291 commissioned officers from: communities in Madison, St. Clair and Monroe counties, in Illinois; St. Louis; St. Louis County and its municipalities, and Franklin, Jefferson and St. Charles counties in Missouri.

Currently serving with the squad are seven officers from Granite City and two from Madison.

Members devoted more than 2,900 manhours and conducted 250 interviews while working on the Hoffman murders last spring, Granite City Police Chief Bill Harris said.

Proverbs 10:24 "... the desire of the righteous shall be granted."

There are over eight thousand blessings mentioned in the Bible that are available to the righteous. By association with Christ we are blessed automatically. It is even said that "as many as believe on Jesus," that is, who receive Him as Saviour, "to them He gives the power to become the sons of God."

What is amazing is that a great change occurs in our desires after we accept Christ. In most cases, we see less desire of carnal pleasures and more desire for spiritual blessing. To serve Him, to please Him, to surrender our will to the will of our Heavenly Father, that is the desire of the righteous. It shall be granted! May the desires of your heart be granted. Today.

CAUSE STILL UNKNOWN: Fire officials have yet to determine the cause of the fire that destroyed The Other Place tavern and restaurant at 25th Street and Madison Avenue on Jan. 22. Arson has been ruled out, but the extensive damage caused by the blaze is making it difficult to pinpoint its origin, officials said. One firefighter was injured while fighting the early morning fire.

After a fight involving Dobler was stopped in a restaurant restroom, he allegedly used loud profanity, refused to leave and was arrested. At police headquarters, Dobler allegedly lunged through the booking window at one officer, ripping the officer's uniform shirt.

A police lieutenant sustained an injury to his right hand before Dobler was forcibly put into a cell, where he continued to act violently, it was contended.

Dobler was charged with battery, resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and damage to city property.

Union asks fair pay from Swift

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

BELLEVIEWE — Jobs returning to the Metro East with Swift Independent Corp. aren't as good as they sound, said Johnny Holmes, Local 78 president, United Food and Commercial Workers.

More than 400 union members lost jobs when Swift closed in February 1986 and there's no indication Swift will rehire them at the former base wage of $8.25, Holmes said. Swift may hire former union members, he said, but they'll likely be young ones willing to work for less.

"I would welcome any young in this area because people need work," Holmes said. "But some of these men will qualify for food stamps."

"I DON'T want my family in poverty while I'm working for a big company like Swift."

In Dallas, a Swift employee said only Lance Wimmer, senior vice president, could speak for the company. He was unavailable for comment.

Workers will be asked to unionize, he said.

"That's the only way these people can make a living," he said. Swift will restart at National City in the spring or summer with an initial force of 400 and an annual payroll of $8 million. The company plans $4 million in renovation work at National City, and will build a $1 million pre-treatment sewage plant to reduce its treatment bill.

The Metro East Sanitary District director, Shang Greathouse, said the pre-treatment plant will save the company roughly half of its estimated $50,000 monthly sewer bill. The regional sewage treatment plant in Granite City will handle the company's sewage in about 18 months, Greathouse said.

The company's return to National City was announced in Belleville on Tuesday by Jerry Costello, St. Clair County Board chairman.

An INCENTIVE package of up to $5 million was offered to bring Swift back, he said.

The company's return, Costello said, was the result of a joint venture by the region's political leaders, including U.S. Sens. Alan Dixon and Paul Simon; U.S. Rep. Mel Price; D-Belleville; Gov. James Thompson; and state Sen. Ken Hall, D-East St. Louis.

"We're just happy that they chose this area to relocate," Hall said.

Scout council merger loses

Consolidation of the Granite City and Alton area Boy Scout councils failed in voting Tuesday night.

The plan won 47-22 in Cahokia Mound Council balloting at Troy, Council Executive Bill Monical said. But it was rejected 31-56 by the Plaza Bird Council in a meeting at Godfrey, he said.

MONICAL is retiring Feb. 28. As a result, the local council has started the process of hiring a new council executive.

Although most Quad-City scouts opposed consolidation, it was backed heavily in eastern areas of the council, which serves Bond County and southern Madison County.

The plan was to support for consolidation in northern Madison County and other counties of the Plaza Bird Council.

HOWEVER, CONCERN began to develop there over the possibility that 280-acre Camp Warren Lewis in Godfrey would be sold.

Monical said he will remain here and stay active in Boy Scouting as a volunteer.

He is scoutmaster of Suburban Baptist Church Troop 102.

Roadblock

Fund-raisers curbed on state highways

To allow two roadblocks a month by local organizations, with no soliciting on state highways, but that also did not allow a second.

Mayors Van Dec, Cruise said solicitation could be held on Johnson and Fehling roads since they are not under state jurisdiction.

The ordinance offered by Whitmer would require each fund-raising agency to register with Attorney General Neil Hartigan as a charitable organization.

THE AGENCY would:

- Be held liable for injuries sustained while collecting.
- Provide a certificate of insurance, liability and fire.
- State the time and intersection for fund raising.

Fund raising would be allowed at intersections where traffic is required to come to a full stop.

Goldenberg said the ordinance could be reintroduced at any time.

Nameoki

Nameoki Township against annexations

Highway Commissioner Lee Adams said a bid was accepted for striping of Arlington Drive. He said stripes will be painted down the center and on each side of the road. Work will be done when weather permits, maybe March, Adams said.

The board approved 13 paid holidays plus election day for township office staff.

The Henry E. Westfall Co. was again selected to conduct the annual township audit for $2,395, $100 more than their price last year.

Bonding of the tax collector was approved for not less than $100,000. Briggs said because Steve Isenbry collects and disburses tax money approximately every two weeks, it would not be necessary to bond him for the total amount of taxes collected.

The next meeting will be Feb. 9 at 7 p.m.

Housing ordinance changed

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — Owner-occupied, single-family homes will be excluded from a proposed occupancy permit requirement.

The City Council placed on first reading Tuesday the third revision of a proposed housing ordinance.

ASSISTANT city attorney Charlie Douglas said the exemption was made because most homes are properly maintained.

He said that inspections of these residences would simply over-inflate the burden for the inspectors and the owners, he said, "when the inspectors are to be paid by the city."

The revision also states how inspections will be issued if an owner won't agree to an inspection.

"AN INSPECTOR cannot insist upon inspecting your home without your consent unless he has a search warrant," Douglas wrote.

A warrant, Douglas said, can be granted if the inspector believes a non-compliance in the code exists, a regular inspection is required, or a change of occupancy has occurred.

IN AN emergency, the inspector can enter a residence without a permit.

City Attorney Mark Goldenberg said that during the proposal was constitutional.

RAY KAEGEL, Granite City Board of Realtors president, also said the revision is constitutional.

Realtors said the second proposal was unconstitutional and threatened suit if it was adopted.

He said that city attorneys and inspectors will meet at 6 p.m. Feb. 3 to discuss the revisions. A copy of the ordinance is posted in City Clerk Bob Stevens' office at City Hall.

Plunger

Cash needed to fix drainage problems drainage and water infiltration problems in American Bottoms, Mostoufi said. It would pay "up-front cash" to construct the wells — at 10 percent of the $6 million cost.

The federal government would pay 75 percent and local agencies would pay the remaining costs, he said. The Corps' report suggests local contributions could be $600,000, including easements, rights-of-ways and relocation costs.

Though favored, MESD involvement is not the only option, he said. ST. CLAIR and Madison counties could create a new service area and have "special service areas" in affected communities. The communities could charge a sewer rate to pay the opening cost.

"I really don't think that would be a real burden to the communities," Mostoufi said.

Another option would be to use MESD facilities to increase the district's tax levy, which has not gone up since the district was formed in 1967.

TO GET the project moving, sponsorship is needed. The Corps sent sponsorship letters to 10 communities, but only Granite City responded, said Dan Marshall, St. Clair County Corps member who prepared the well study.

Of the other letters, "Somehow they got lost on a desk," Marshall said.

COMMUNITIES must band together to make the project work, Marshall said.

Most area officials favor the project, said Mostoufi, but paying for it is probably the biggest obstacle.

"They all think it's needed. They just need to find a way to pay for it," he said.

Testimony

Under Scroggins' questioning, board member Kelly Hogan said estimates of the district's potential sources of income, such as tax levies, are available to the public and the union, but some information is kept from the union.

Scroggins asked Hogan if the board regularly holds back financial information from the union.

"Not in reference to the source of income... but how it is spent. That is not made available to the AFT (American Federation of Teachers)," Hogan said.

Under cross-examination by board attorney William Schooley, Schooley suggested to Hogan that the district would appear "top heavy" with administrators and teachers would "come down" on the district during negotiations if they knew of proposed administrative job creations before negotiations.

Hogan agreed.

The transparency broke down possible job creations and consolidations and stated how those changes would affect the district's finances. The negotiations were prepared by Redmond and Salem.

Scroggins said job creation estimates were not sensitive to future negotiations because the board-voted March 25 in open session to create a number of the proposed positions that had been discussed in closed meetings for several months and that actual negotiations had not begun.

Hogan said the board also considered job creations a legal matter, which would have allowed the closed talks to take place under the "legal" exemption of the act.

Scroggins questioned why the board, except for Partney, closed the meeting without first seeing the transparency to determine whether the closing was justified.

"What we voted on was to see the transparency. After looking at it, I agreed" that it was sensitive, said director, Norm Owca, said at the meeting there would be sensitive material on the transparency, though minutes of the March 25 meeting do not include Owca's alleged statement.

Other board members testified they did not know what was on the transparency and needed the executive session to find out.

Redmond testified that he sent information almost identical to what was on the transparency to all board members five days before the Tuesday meeting. The transparency reflected minor revisions, he said.

Partney testified that he had expressed concern to other board members about the job creation discussions before filing the suit.

"I thought it was getting off the grounds of what the Open Meetings Act was about," he said.

Byron said he delayed a verdict because he wanted a thorough investigation of the legal implications involved in an Open Meetings Act ruling.

"This is a case we ought to give some time to. Obviously there is some question here," he said.

Warrior girls rip Comanches

By Gary King
Correspondent

CAHOKIA — Pardon the cat-like-the-cheese-like smile that was pasted to the face of Granite City girls' basketball coach John Hutchings Tuesday night.

He wasn't being rude to the Cahokia Comanches, who had just found themselves on the receiving end of a 51-20 cakewalk. Nor was the Warrior headmaster flouting an attitude of one-upmanship.

What Hutchings was doing, simply, was basking in his squad's journey into daylight. And as for the smile — well, it was somewhat of an emotional sunglasses, reflecting the rays of a rare Warrior blowout.

"There were a lot of things about our play that could've been better," Hutchings said, as he slowly began to grin. "But what really pleased me was that we finally went ahead and took it to somebody."

And having found his team on the opposite end of the spectrum more than once this season, Hutchings seemed somehow justified in finding contentment in what could hardly be called a "pretty win."

Convincing, yes. Pretty, no. "Overall, I was pleased with our effort, but we have a tendency to drop into these temporary hulls where we can't seem to do anything right," Hutchings said.

CAHOKIA: Johnson 2, Tate 1, Osis 2, Jackson 9, Ray 2, Robinson 4.

GRANITE CITY: Toniskoetter 16 (11 rebounds), Noel 7 (5 assists), Knollman 4, Pawlak 20, Barker 6, Carl 1.

"Tonight it happened when they (Cahokia) began to put the defensive press on us. We just don't deal with the press well. We can even make a bad press look good when we try."

Case in point. After the Warriors had jumped out to an early 13-3 lead behind the shooting of freshman Kim Pawlak, who was knocking baskets down quicker than the scoreboard operator could call for assistance, Cahokia opted to go to its full-court defensive pressure tactics.

As a result of the Comanches' shift in defensive alignment, the Warrior offense began to look and play like a Porsche body with a Pinto engine.

They could cruise, but they couldn't lay further rubber on the scoreboard.

Still, Granite City didn't seem to be in any noticeable danger as they hauled a 23-10 lead into the halftime intermission.

But despite his squad's lead, Hutchings would later admit he had his doubts regarding the final outcome of the game.

"At halftime I went in and told the girls that I didn't really think they wanted to win the game very bad," he said. "We were playing sloppy and we weren't working. But they came out and did some things better in the second half."

One of the improvements Granite City would save until the second 16 minutes of play was a defensive effort which would see the Comanches able to muster only 10 points of offense for the second consecutive half.

Another upgrade was notable in the Warrior offense, which was basically carried by Pawlak's 21 points and center Maria Toniskoetter's 16 points and 11 rebounds.

Making the board-lighting possible was point guard Sheila Noel, who finished with a game-high five assists and also played a strong floor game.

"We're still not looking inside enough," Hutchings would say later. "Pawlak and Toniskoetter played a good game for us tonight. They still got going offensively. But we're still not looking in the paint enough. We're still trying to play too far out."

And as the Warriors found out from the slight-but-swift Comanche squad, the less room you give the opposition to fast break, the better off the lungs of your defenders will be.

On several occasions, Cahokia's Athena Robinson and Charlotte Jackson pickpocketed Granite City's guards and headed for apparent easy layups.

The only problem is Cahokia's cannot seem to look more like penguins, as they consistently blew their golden opportunities to chisel away at their deficit.

"We got real good shots tonight. Real good shots," said first-year Comanche coach Greg Crockett. "The only problem we have is that we can't shoot. I mean close shots, long shots, breakaways, steals...nothing. We just can't shoot anything."

But the girls did hustle and play hard, and I'm very pleased with that. What it came down to, though, was that Granite City made the shots and we missed them."

And what made Hutchings so happy, what gave him reason for the evil smile, was his Warriors, now 6-11, are peaking at the right time.

"This is the first time we've put back-to-back wins together, yet this season," he said. "Hopefully, we'll be playing our best basketball come regional time. We've got four games left in the regular season, and I think we'll be competitive in all of those games. And if they are, there'll be one cat eating up on some cheese."

Improved Warriors host Althoff, East

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The basketball season is well past the halfway mark, but there is still a lot to be decided in the Southwestern Conference.

The Warriors (11-5, 4-0 in the SWC) still have six league games left to play, and they will reach the halfway point in the conference slate Saturday night when the Belleville East Lancers come to Memorial Gymnasium for an 8 p.m. game.

But before they can worry about the Lancers, Granite City must face Belleville Althoff in an 8 p.m. home game Friday. And there are at least three Warrior players who might be looking to repay a debt to the Crusaders.

Tim Hogan, Jamie Hogan and Eric Ryterski were members of the Warrior football team which cruised into Belleville last Oct. 11 with a perfect 5-0 record. They were coming off their epic upset of East St. Louis the week before. But the Crusaders, who eventually advanced to the Class 4A semifinals, brought Granite City crashing to earth to the tune of 41-0.

"I'm thinking more about the conference game with East on Saturday, but I don't know if my players are," said Warrior coach Don Detering. "They remember what happened during the football season, and they want to do well against Althoff."

It won't be easy. The Crusaders are 12-4 and ranked third among small schools in the St. Louis area. Althoff is paced by forward Kevin Schwartz, fourth in the area in scoring with 21.5 points per game and 10.3 rebounds per game. The Crusaders, perhaps taking their cue from the football team, play a very physical style of basketball.

Saturday night's game against East might look a little easier on paper, with the Lancers checking in at 1-4 in conference play. They are 8-8 overall, but looked impressive in winning the Belleville East Invitational last week. Rob Rickett leads the Lancers in scoring with 16.6 points per game.

The Warriors, despite their slow start this year, are still in the driver's seat in the conference race, holding a 1/2-game lead over Collinsville and a game and a half edge over East St. Louis.

"We're in a pretty good position right now," Detering said. "And we can't afford to have many more L's. We lost three or four games early in the season that we shouldn't have. Our record could be better, but then again, if we had beaten Springfield Griffin, we probably wouldn't have beaten Lincoln."

Warriors shoot down Stars

By Dave Whaley

GRANITE CITY — Applying the knockout punch is the mark of any good team. When you have someone down a little bit, you have to put them down even farther.

That's something the Granite City Campus Stars have been unable to do. And it happened again Wednesday night at home against Meramec in a Midwest Community-College Athletic Conference game. The Stars built up a five-point lead early in the second half and seemed to have things going their way, but the Warriors got back into it and eventually took a 63-56 decision.

"The key point of the game was early in the second half," said GCC coach Terry Collins, who saw his team fall to 6-15. "We could have moved out on them, but we didn't do that."

Corey Silas of the Stars made a steal and went in for a slam dunk to give Granite City a 36-31 lead, then his three-point shot retained a four-point edge. But Mark Collier, who paced Meramec with 20 points scored, two buckets off nice passes in close and added a free throw to give the Warriors a lead.

The lead changed hands several times in the next few minutes, and Don Stevanus' tap-in tied the game at 42-42. But Meramec scored the next eight points as the Stars committed some turnovers. The Warriors got a little sloppy, and baskets by Terrence Bell, Kirt Robinson, and Demetrius Thomas after turnovers cut the lead to 57-55, but Meramec regained its composure to hold on. They made 16 of 18 free throws in the game, including 11 of 12 in the second half.

"We knew we would have to keep them off the foul line," Collins said. "And 18 free throws isn't that bad. There weren't too many dumb fouls."

"But we did a good job of pressuring them on defense when we cut the lead from eight to two. If we had done that when we were up by four, we might have put them away. But that's why we are a losing basketball team."

The first half was back and forth, with neither team really gaining a big advantage. The Stars did take a five-point lead on a breakaway slam dunk by Robinson, who is leading the MCCCAC in scoring with a 21.1 average, but their lead was only two (29-27) at halftime.

But Stevanus, a 6-9 freshman from Granite City, got in foul trouble, and the Stars lost their biggest

IHSA awaits reports on Venice fight

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

VENICE — There are differing versions of how the brawl during the Venice lovejoy basketball game began last Friday, but no action will be taken for at least a few days.

Laverne Astroth, executive secretary of the Illinois High School Association, said Tuesday the IHSA won't be able to say too much about the incident until reports are received from the high school principals and the game officials.

"Until we get the reports, we can't do anything," Astroth said. "We hope to get the reports from the principals and the officials this week, although it doesn't always happen that way."

Venice High School principal John Rush, who was not at the game, said he would be preparing a report this week based on information from Red Devil coach Clinton Harris.

"It's a requirement of the IHSA that we do this," Rush said.

Lovejoy High School principal Mary Reddick said she had already sent her report in, and added the school would have no comment on the matter until the IHSA replies.

"We want to wait and hear what the IHSA says, and we hope to hear from them late this week," she said.

Astroth would not say if the game would be forfeited — to either team — but Rush said a forfeit was not the primary concern.

"That is something the two schools could decide on," he said. "What they are worried about mostly is the fact the two schools are in the same regional and might meet again. From the questions they are asking, they want to know if something might happen again."

Both Venice and Lovejoy are in the Freeburg Regional the week of Feb. 23.

Last week's game erupted with 47 seconds left in the first quarter with the Red Devils leading the Wildcats 17-12. After a blocking foul against Venice's Vincent Harris under the basket, Daryl Jackson of the Devils and Dennis Miller of the Wildcats got into a tussle near midcourt.

Chaos ensued when players and fans came onto the court. After

Harmon into Tennis Hall of Fame

By Dave Whaley

GRANITE CITY — For someone who didn't even play tennis in high school, Dick Harmon sure did come out looking good.

Harmon, who ran track and played basketball at Granite City High School in the early 1940s, was inducted into the Illinois High School Tennis Coaches Hall of Fame in ceremonies last weekend in Chicago. He was inducted along with five others, and they were the third group of six to be inducted into the tennis Hall of Fame in three years.

"I got a beautiful plaque for the honor," Harmon said. "And we all had a good time up there."

Harmon was the boys tennis coach at Granite City High School for 31 years, coaching his last team last spring. When Robbie Lombardi and Bill Gaumer went to the state tournament in 1986, it kept Harmon's tradition of sending players to state alive.

In his 31 years, he coached 11 conference champion teams and 16 sectional champions. In the late 1960s, his teams won 32 matches in a row over a three-year span. The 1960 team finished seventh in the state, and Harmon's overall record as coach was 389-137.

"It's hard to say who the best players were for me," he said. "But I had four that probably stood out."

That would be Dave Moss, who finished second in the state in 1960, the year Marty Resen won his fourth straight state title. Billy Rusk and John Van Buskirk, who both made it to the state semifinals, and Ron Underwood, a state quarterfinalist.

"Our best team was probably the one with Van Buskirk, Bob Malottke, Louis Mayo, Billy Harris, Dave Nagy, Jim Carlyle and others that won 32 in a row," Harmon said. "We got a call from McCluer to schedule a match, and they beat us 3-2 in a real good match. We found out later they had won 31 in a row themselves, so that's why they wanted to play us."

Harmon also ran track and played basketball at SIU-Carbondale, and was on the Saluki basketball team in 1946 that took a national title. Times have changed since his first year as tennis coach at GCHS in 1955, and Harmon said the players of today are better than they used to be.

"The courts have changed and you have better rackets," he said. "But the good players can adapt. I think the four players I mentioned could play with anyone."

And when Harmon took the job as tennis coach in 1955, the Hall of Fame was the farthest thing from his mind.

"I wasn't thinking anything like that," he said. Harmon, who is also included in the group of six to be inducted into the newly-formed Granite City Sports Hall of Fame this spring. "It was all just for fun back then. There wasn't quite as much emphasis on winning. I thought I was stealing my money then because I was having so much fun and was getting paid for it."

Harmon coached at Granite City South High School when the city had two high schools, and he will be succeeded as boys tennis coach by Allen Lobdell. But he has kept active by coaching the seventh grade boys basketball team at Grigsby Junior High School.

"It keeps me busy," he said. "We haven't had a great year, but we're getting better as the season goes on."

Others inducted with Harmon last weekend were Dick Conley, Tom Henderson, Les Kent, Chuck Morrison and Barry Nixon.

54 named to city's Sports Hall of Fame

By Al Barnes

Fifty-four athletes out of a field of approximately 300 have been elected to enshrine in the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame.

This first group of inductees, who starred in their sports as far back as 1906, will be honored at a banquet on Wednesday, May 6, at 7 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 4225 Old Alton Road.

The field of 54 was selected at a meeting Monday night of the 23-member Sports Hall of Fame committee in deliberations held at the Wilson Park office. The committee started its meetings in July.

Many of the honorees obtained national stature in their careers, such as Andy Phillip, Dan Maxwell, John "Champ" Summers, Owen Friend, Ron Hall, Tom Hennessey, Carl Linhart, Francis (Salty) Parker, Bill Seebold Jr., John Tarpo, Lawrence McCauley, John Tonnoff and Rich Williams.

Three women were elected in the first class of inductees. They were Billie (Benson) Buente, tennis; Helen Mix, softball; and Barbara Korch, long-time director of women's sports at Granite City High School.

The other 43 honorees are: Jim Bain, Ab Borendt, Byron Bozarth, Gene Baker, Harold Brown, Charles Brisky, George Bischoff, Conrad (Babe) Champion, Von Dee Cruise, Leonard Davis, Ray (Hap) Duncan, Joe Pedrosa, Steve Gallauer, Gilbert Georgeff, Nellie Hagnauer, Dick Harmon, John Hogan, Walter Klein, Frank Kraus, Max Legate, Chris Marcovsky, Bill McCormick, Gene McGovern, Charles Merzian, George Nemeth, George Moran, Bob Price, Claude (Johnny) Poole, Dick Portell, Ed Reinagel, Pat Rich, Jack Scarborough, Bill R. Schmitt, Bill Schooley, Gary Simpson, Marcell (Munce) Tarris, Jim Brenick and Spike Wilson.

There were many other nominees who just missed being elected, but they will continue to be eligible for induction in subsequent years.

coln (Ill.) in the Collinsville Tournament. But we still have 11 wins.

And the Warriors, slowly but surely, are beginning to get some more help from their supporting cast. Greg Lilley and Ryterski have both had some good games of late, although Ryterski is hobbling around on a bad ankle this week.

In the event he can't start this weekend, Kevin Sanders would get the nod at forward.

Sanders is progressing pretty nicely," Deterding said. "And our sophomore Mike Wilkinson has also looked very good."

But the Warriors still revolve around the efforts of the Hogans and Tom Taylor. Jamie Hogan is ninth in the area in scoring with an 18.8 average. He adds 7.4 rebounds per game, is third in the area in free throw percentage (.850), sixth in assist (9.4, 5.8 per game) and second in steals (3.6 per game).

Tim Hogan, who played a terrific game at Alton last Friday, has 18.4 points per game (12th in the area) and is third in assists with 10.3 (6.4 per game).

"I thought the Hogans were mentally tired at the start of the season," Deterding said. "They were drained after that football season, when they had to win the last couple of games to make the playoffs. But they are coming around, and Timmy is playing his best now."

While Timmy gets most of the attention in basketball, Jamie has been an outstanding player in all parts of the game.

Taylor is averaging 8.9 rebounds, is shooting 72 percent from the foul line and has 55 assists. Ryterski is averaging 7.2 rebounds and has 35 steals.

"I felt before the season started that we could win the conference," Deterding said. "I still say East St. Louis has the best team, but we beat them, then Collinsville beat them last week. Collinsville might end up giving us the biggest test."

"I knew we wouldn't match last year's team on offense, because we had five scorers. But I thought we might be a little better than we have been by now. And we've been our own worst enemy on defense at times."

The Warriors are fifth in the area in offense (67.5 points per game), yet rank near the bottom of the list in defense (62.4).

about five minutes, the Red Devils went to their locker room, then decided to leave. Jackson suffered a broken nose during the melee, although Miller was not responsible — a fan from the stands had apparently kicked him as he was on the floor. Wilfred Wigfall received a sprained ankle.

Venice players had said before the game they had heard that Lovejoy players might have something other than basketball in mind, although the Wildcats denied that. Lovejoy coach Carlos Stanford did go to the Venice locker room to apologize for the incident.

"The biggest problem came when the fans came out," Clinton Harris said. "And some of our fans came out also. It wasn't just the Lovejoy fans. That's a natural reaction when something like that happens."

NOTES: Both Venice and Madison will be playing in the first Class A Superfan Spectacular at SIUE's Vandalia Center. The Trojans kick things off with a 4 p.m. game against Pana, then the Devils play Flores in a 4 p.m. game. Okaville and Martinsville play at 7:30, then a Class AA game between Edwardsville and O'Fallon wraps things up at 9:15. Before that, Madison (9-7) hosts East St. Louis Assumption (8-8) tomorrow night, while Venice (15-1, 3-0 in the Illinois Gateway Conference) hosts league rival Metro East Lutheran (5-10, 2-2).

man inside when he fouled out late in the game.

"He's our only healthy inside player," Collins said. "And we know we're going to lose on the boards, so when he went out, it was just that much worse. But Stevanus has improved. He controlled things defensively in the first half."

After Meramec tied the game early in the second half, the Stars moved out to their five-point lead, but the Warriors outscored them 26-13 in the next 12 minutes to take charge.

Robinson led the Stars with 16 points, while Cleon Williamson added 11 and Terrence Bell had 10. "We didn't run enough for Robinson to get a big game scoring," Collins said. "But he also missed some shots he usually gets."

The Stars, 1-6 in conference play, play at Mineral Area Saturday night and at BAC Monday. They return to face Jefferson Feb. 6.

Madison eighth graders invited to tournament

The Madison Middle School eighth grade basketball team has been invited to participate in the Collinsville Invitational Tournament of Champions Feb. 9-13. The team is undefeated after 13 games.

In its most recent games, they defeated Edwardsville 47-21 on Jan. 20, then beat Collinsville 41-13 on Jan. 22. Andre Mays led Madison with 13 points against Edwardsville, then Ervin Claggett had 11 points against Collinsville.

Other scorers against Edwardsville were Tony Smith (9), Claggett (8), Federico Walker (6), Brennan Wimberly (6), Anthony Borney (2), Jerry Haynes (2) and Gino Carroll (1). Making the scoresheet against Collinsville were Mays (6), Smith (6), Walker (6), Wimberly (6), Borney (2), Gregory Wray (2) and Gregory Young (2).

The seventh grade team dropped a pair of games to the same schools on the same dates, falling 26-25 to Edwardsville and 39-22 to Collinsville. Willie Woodson (8), Larry Calvin (6), Marcus Franklin (6), Cernyn Macon (3) and Lowell Newsome (2) scored against Edwardsville. Franklin (6), Calvin (4), Woodson (4), Macon (4) and Chris Finkedster (4) scored against Collinsville.

Warrior skaters steam towards playoffs

By Dave Whaley

An embarrassing loss at home might have been just what the Warrior hockey team needed as they prepared for the playoffs. Granite City rebounded from its 6-0 whitewashing at the hands of Lafayette Jan. 19 to win two impressive games to raise their record to 15-3 with one regular season game remaining.

The Warriors trampled McCluer 11-1 last Friday behind Matt Schnefke's hat trick. Then they followed up with an exciting 5-4 win over Parkway West on Monday, in what coach Garry Henson called one of the better games of the year.

"It was really a good game for both teams," Henson said. "We were up and down the ice all night. I told them after the McCluer game that the easy games were over. They will all be tough now."

Lee Schreiber and Matt Krekovich scored for the Warriors, but Parkway West came back to tie the game twice. Garry Henson and Todd Hinterswer then scored to give Granite City a 4-2 lead going into the third period.

Joey Edwards missed on a chance to give the Warriors a 5-2 edge when he didn't convert a penalty shot early in the period. "Then we sat back and tried to protect our lead, made a couple of mistakes and they tied the game," Henson said.

But Edwards redeemed himself by getting the game-winner with 5:02 left.

"I told him on the penalty shot to get within about 10 feet of the goal, make a move, then go upstairs with the shot," Henson said. "He made the move, then didn't go upstairs. He tried to kick it in the corner with the goalie down and hit the goal post. So I was glad to see him come back and score."

Collins Harlan played a strong game in goal for the Warriors.

1986 all-area football (small schools)

SCOTT HAMILTON, quarterback, Roxana: One of the area's best two-way performers, Hamilton completed just more than 50 percent of his passes for 913 yards and eight touchdowns. More importantly, he led the Shells' offense, which gained 3,161 yards and scored 363 points.

Defensively, he was also one of the team's leading tacklers with 47 solos and 21 assists. He also made five interceptions.

In addition, good football players run in the Hamilton family. His father, Rich, was Roxana's quarterback in the 1960s and his younger brother, Chad, is a sophomore and was the Shells' backup QB this past season. "He really has been a find for us," Coach Charlie Raich said of Scott.

TERRY LAWRENCE, running back, Roxana: Lawrence put together some incredible totals this past season. He gained almost 1,500 yards and scored 126 points, all on touchdowns (21). He also recovered seven turnovers, including four interceptions, on defense and was also one of the team's leading tacklers.

"He could be an outstanding college player," said Raich of Lawrence, who will play in the Shrine All-Star game next August.

TOM WADE, running back, Hardin Calhoun: Wade was one of only two seniors on Calhoun's Class 2A playoff team, but what an impact he made.

JOURNAL COACH OF THE YEAR: Jim Monken, Assumption.

Although he didn't gain 1,000 yards for the second straight year, he still gained 833 and scored 18 touchdowns and 16 extra points for a total of 124. That was nearly half the Warriors' scoring.

PAT DALL, running back, Carlyle: Opponents found it hard to believe that Dall is just a sophomore, but he gained 1,439 yards on 260 carries (5.5 yard average) and scored 20 touchdowns.

He had a fine offensive line in front of him and a fine quarterback (Scott Horner), said Coach Gary Wheeler. "With his size (5-11, 200 pounds), once he gets started, he's hard to bring down."

JOE WHITWORTH, end, Roxana: Along with Hamilton, Lawrence and the rest, Whitworth was one of the players who made Roxana's offense go. He's been starting on the varsity since his sophomore year, but at one time was a running back.

Whitworth was the chief target of Hamilton, making 29 catches for 538 yards or 18.5 yards per catch. He also scored seven touchdowns.

MATT BAALMAN, end-linebacker, Hardin Calhoun: He is, arguably, the best athlete at his school, as he also excels in basketball and baseball. But for the football team, he provided leadership, size (6-2, 186 pounds) and ability. He caught 25 passes for 461 yards and was the Warriors' leading receiver.

He also was their leading return man with 544 total yards. On defense, he logged an amazing 101 solo tackles and had two quarterback sacks.

"He's our cornerstone on defense and our best blocker on offense," said Coach Ric Johns.

ERIC LAWSON, tackle-defensive line, Roxana: The senior was one of many Roxana linemen to play both ways. Offensively, he helped his team gain more than 3,000 yards; defensively, he contributed, too.

ERIC LIDDELL, tackle, Assumption: Few players improved more over the course of the season than Liddell, a 6-4, 250-pound junior.

"We started winning (after a 1-3 start) because Eric Liddell and a few other people started getting the job done," said Coach Jim Monken.

"He became our best offensive lineman."

GREGG TOLSON, guard, Assumption: The 5-9, 165-pound senior was referred to Coach Jim Monken as the "unsung hero" of the Pioneers' offense.

"I'm about the littles guy in the league, but I have more quickness because I used to play quarterback," Tolson said. "A lot of guys underestimate me, but I try to do better every time I go out."

DARREN RATLIFF, guard, Roxana: The 6-0, 185-pound senior was also one of the keys to his team's offensive line. He also played some on defense, getting 17 solo tackles and a fumble recovery.

BOB BAUER, center, Freeburg: A 5-10, 175-pound senior, Bauer stepped in at center, allowing David Anderson, an all-area player last year, to move to running back.

"He was one of the few guys to handle the noiseguard consistently," said Coach Denny Dalke. "He was also our long snapper — he had 35 snaps including extra points and field goals and not one bad one."

CRAIG HEINRICH, kicker, Marquette: This sophomore has a bright future. Playing his first year on the varsity for the Explorers, he ended up switching off with senior Rob Hesse at quarterback.

Heinrich, who also played a lot of youth soccer, excelled at the kicking game. He kicked 12 extra points and four field goals, one of them a 33-yarder. As the Explorers' punter, he punted 40 times for 1,595 yards.

SHAWN GAINES, defensive line, Assumption: A three-year starter at defensive end, Gaines led the area with 14 quarterback sacks.

"Last year, I had a good season, but this year, I improved my technique and stopped (opponents) on the run," Gaines said. "In the playoffs, it seems they stopped running my way."

DAVE RUSSELL, defensive line, Marquette: The big (6-4, 232 pounds) tackle was the Explorers' leader on both the offensive and defensive lines. He had four QB sacks and led his team in tackles until the end of the season, when he missed some playing time due to illness. He is also an excellent student, ranking sixth in his graduating class.

"He's the best I've had at defensive tackle in the 11 years I've been here," said Coach John Waters.

MARK FEURER, defensive line, Freeburg: A rigorous summer weightlifting program paid off for Feurer, a 6-4, 220-pound senior who was one of Freeburg's leading tacklers.

"With him and Rick Becherer on the right side, a lot of teams started running left on us," Dalke said. "A lot of colleges would like him to play ball for them."

RICK BECHERER, linebacker, Freeburg: A 6-1, 185-pound senior, Becherer intercepted three passes and was the Midgets' leading tackler. He blocked two field goals in a key win over Dupo.

"He's one of the best kids I've ever coached," Dalke said. "To me, he's a complete linebacker. He can play the pass as well as the run."

MIKE RYAN, linebacker, Dupo: Ryan made an astounding 136 tackles for the Tigers and added two sacks and four fumble recoveries.

DAVID MAURER, linebacker, Waterloo: Maurer didn't play defense in Waterloo's last two games because of an injury, but he still had 111 tackles. A 5-10, 175-pound senior, he gained 415 yards as a fullback on offense.

SCOTT HARPER, defensive back, Roxana: Harper was one of an excellent group of seniors. He scored two of the Shells' 54 touchdowns during the season and gained more than 100 yards in returns. But the 5-10, 155-pounder, who is also an excellent baseball player, was one of the keys to the Shells' defense with six interceptions.

BOB SEYMOUR, defensive back, Freeburg: A 5-10, 160-pound senior, Seymour was named to the first team for the second consecutive season.

"Bob improved this year on playing the run," Dalke said. "He had three interceptions and almost doubled his tackles."

JEFF PLUNKETT, punter, Dupo: When the Tigers had to punt the ball, they could depend on Plunkett. He averaged 42 yards on 23 attempts.

Parenting,
pregnancy
classes set

The Obstetrics Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., is offering a variety of classes throughout the next several months. They are Early Pregnancy, Prepared Childbirth, Breastfeeding Your Baby, Creative Parenting, and Expectant Sibling Class.

The Early Pregnancy classes are for women less than six months pregnant. These classes are held for two consecutive weeks and offer instruction in nutrition, exercise, breast conditioning, how a woman's body changes during pregnancy and how the fetus develops.

This series will be held on two consecutive Mondays, Feb. 2 and 9, from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the McKinley School Building, 22nd and Iowa streets, across from the medical center.

Prepared Childbirth classes are for women in their sixth month of pregnancy until delivery. This six-week series of classes includes the Lamaze method of breathing and relaxation, body conditioning, breastfeeding information, and an introduction to baby care. Participants learn about the process of labor and delivery and the types of analgesics used in labor. A tour of the Obstetrics Department is also provided.

Classes will meet from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the McKinley School Building, and will be offered on the following dates: Tuesday evenings, Feb. 24 through March 31; Wednesday evenings, Feb. 25 through April 1, and Thursday evenings, Feb. 26 through April 2.

For those mothers who have attended a prenatal class series with their previous pregnancy (ies) and need to refresh their knowledge for this pregnancy, a Refresher Course option is available. The expecting mother and coach may register for a late pregnancy series and attend the first class of that series. At that time, the mothers and the nurses will decide what classes of the regular series they should attend.

Breastfeeding Your Baby is a class for both expectant or new parents who have chosen breastfeeding for their baby, and who want to know more about the subject. Topics include advantages of breastfeeding, suggestions for increasing success and avoiding problems, tips for mothers who need a refresher, and basic how-to information.

The class will meet on Monday, March 30, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. in the Prenatal Classroom, located in the McKinley Building.

The Creative Parenting Class is designed as an ongoing program that provides helpful insight and information about becoming better parents.

The program is designed for couples expecting a baby and for those who have recently had a newborn. Grandparents and other special people who assist in the care of the new family member can also benefit from this class.

Topics include infant CPR, basic childproofing, car and home safety, and milestones of growth and development in early childhood (with emphasis on the first year of life).

The class, which is free, will meet on two consecutive Mondays, April 6 and 13, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., in the McKinley Building.

The arrival of a new baby is an event which affects everyone the family, especially the other children at home. SEMC's Expectant Sibling Class will provide siblings with the opportunity to be a part of the upcoming birth, allowing them to participate in specific activities directed toward their role in welcoming and understanding the newborn baby.

Children must be two years or older and the expectant mother must be at least six months pregnant. The child must be accompanied by a parent, who will also be involved in the class activities. Cost is $5 per family.

The class will be held on Saturday, March 14, from 10 a.m. to noon, in the OB solarium, on 2-Docors at SEMC.

Expectant mothers interested in these or other classes offered through SEMC's Obstetrics Department may register by calling 786-3040.

Contributions by Laureate Alpha unit

Arlene Haldeman entertained the Laureate Alpha Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in her home last week.

The business meeting, conducted by President Jean Stevens, was a detailed discussion on two Beta Sigma Phi funds to which Laureate has contributed on an annual basis and will do so again this year.

One is the Endowment Fund, which allocates funds on a continuing basis to 16 U.S. charities, including the Hope School for the multiple-handicapped in Springfield, and one charity in Canada. The other is the Exemplar Fund, which supports world education projects, such as one in India promoting literacy there.

Delores Dortch and her social committee are completing arrangements for members and their guests to attend the Jan. 23 evening performance of the St. Louis Symphony at Powell Hall. This is the third year that the chapter as a group has enjoyed a mid-winter concert by the orchestra.

The evening's cultural program was on Sally Kristin Ride and was led by Jean Forrest. The first American woman in space, as flight engineer on the June 1983 week-long voyage aboard the Challenger, the Californian formerly was a nationally-ranked tennis player. In 1978 she earned a Ph.D. degree in physics at Stanford University. Among 8,300 applicants, she was one of 35 chosen to train as astronauts. In this group of future space travelers was Judy Reznik, a member of the ill-fated crew aboard the Challenger when it was destroyed a year ago. Ride was selected by the president to serve on the panel which subsequently investigated the tragedy.

After the birthday of Mrs. Forrest was observed with presentation of a gift from her "secret sister," the hostess served refreshments to those named and Pat Tsigolaroff, Juanita Calve, Evelyn Tolliver, Ruth Stoyanoff, Lora Mae Lombardi and Dolores Byrnes.

Mrs. Dortch has invited the chapter to her home for its next meeting, when Norma Rains is scheduled to present the program.

Who should do tax returns?

By Catherine Mauck
Home economics adviser

It's tax time again. And if you're like most, you dread the thought of preparing your state and federal income tax forms.

The Internal Revenue Service has done a lot in recent years to simplify the tax forms we use. If your financial situation is simple, you can probably do your own tax return.

But if you have made major financial transactions during 1986, such as buying a new home, receiving a large gift or stock, or making investments in prizes or bonds, you may find a professional tax preparer helpful.

Recent years have brought some fairly major changes in tax laws, changes in depreciation schedules, business deductions and capital gains holding periods, for example. If you're looking for a tax preparer, shop around for the best prices and services. Most importantly, find out where the preparer will be after the April 15 filing date.

Tax preparation is a seasonal occupation, so some preparers may "disappear" after April. Choose one who is available to answer questions all year long, in case of an audit.

Ask what the tax preparer will do for you if you are audited, but be aware that only a lawyer can offer legal representation. What the preparer can do is accompany you to the audit and explain how the return was prepared.

Also ask if the tax preparer will pay the penalty if the IRS finds there was an error in preparation of the form. Tax preparers won't pay any back taxes you owe, but some will pay the penalty. The penalty can be substantial, so it's worth finding someone who will be responsible for any penalty.

If you've decided that you need a preparer and have chosen one, put all your financial records in order before going to see him or her. Many charge by the hour, so you will save money if you do as much background work as possible before the appointment.

Some tax preparers are better qualified than others, and most of the time, you get what you pay for. If you're in doubt about a preparer's qualifications, it's best to keep looking until you find one you have confidence in.

The Latest Technology in Eye Surgery Now is Close to Home

SURGICAL LASERS ARE NO LONGER A THING OF THE FUTURE.
The most up-to-date surgical lasers available are now treating eye problems close to home, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City.

No need to cross the river for treatment anymore. Ophthalmologists Michael Rumelt, M.D., Edward Doisy, III, M.D., and Donald Schnellman, M.D. are using the lasers in glaucoma surgery, retinal damage and in treating the after-effects of cataract removal.

Lasers use the energy of light beams to perform the most delicate functions. The laser beam does not cut the outside of the eye, only the inside membrane. There is no bleeding and no entry wound. That means the chances of infections and complications are greatly reduced.

The painless new procedures can be done in 5 to 45 minutes, on an outpatient basis. Don't let needless worry dim your vision. Find out how bright your future can be by calling 798-3013, Physician Referral Service.

Weekly Health Tip

By Steve Burdge, R. Ph.

PREGNANCY

Pregnant women should be very hesitant and selective about taking drugs, stated Dr. M. L. Scammon to the AMA Convention. Drugs may pass thru the placenta and stay in the bloodstream of the unborn baby longer than in the mother's blood stream. Toxic substance resulting from breakdown of the drug may also reach the fetus. The placenta is not always an effective barrier against transfer of drugs from mother to fetus.

FOOT POLLUTION

Sealed within socks and shoes for 16 hours a day, your feet can become overworked, overheated and choked for air. Each foot perspires at least one cup of fluid daily. The effect is the same as if you were locked in a room filled with pollutants.

A podiatric exam identifies any risk of infection because of poor footwear ventilation or hygiene. Fungus infections affect your nails and can lead to athlete's foot, dermatitis. Podiatric care can treat these threatening conditions before they are able to spread. Broomholiosis, or accumulation of bacteria, fungus, mold and yeast on your feet, will respond to scrubs and antibiotics. Fight foot pollution with podiatric treatment.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes health clubs have patrons sign an agreement which relieves the club of all liability if the patron is injured on the equipment. These questions which relieve a party from fault are known as exculpatory clauses. Frequently, the question arises as to whether such a clause is binding on the person who signed it.

Generally speaking, Illinois law provides that where an exculpatory clause specifically sets forth in clear language the range of activities to which it applies, the clause is enforceable. There are only two exceptions to this general rule. If the clause is contrary to public policy or if there is something in the social relationship of the parties which would work against upholding the agreement, then the clause may not be enforceable.

In one recent case, the plaintiff signed a contract with a health club agreeing to pay the club $406.96 in return for 176 visits. In addition, the patron signed an agreement which provided that the patron assumed all risks of injuries while using the equipment. Several weeks after signing the contract with the exculpatory clause, the plaintiff injured her back while using one of the defendant's exercise machines. Subsequent medical tests revealed that the plaintiff had a ruptured disc. She underwent a lumbar laminectomy to treat her back problems.

The question arose as to whether the plaintiff could hold the club responsible for her injuries or whether the exculpatory clause was enforceable. The court found that the plaintiff expressly consented to relieve the defendant of any and all liability from the use of the machines provided by the club. In that the clause specifically set forth in clear language the range of activities to which it applied, the clause was found to be enforceable. Therefore, the Appellate Court found for the defendant. In this case, and the plaintiff recovered no damages.

This case is to be distinguished from a similar case decided in 1984. In this matter, the plaintiff also signed an exculpatory clause related to the use of a health club. In this matter, however, the plaintiff was exposed to noxious fumes which resulted in injury to the patron's respiratory system. Here the court held that the injury was not within the scope of the exculpatory clause. Inhaling noxious fumes is a risk not reasonably contemplated when frequenting a health club, and thus the plaintiff was able to recover damages in this instance.

Illinois Air National Guard being upgraded

The Military and Naval Department of Illinois has announced a proposed restructuring of the Strategic Air Command forces that will affect the 126th Air Refueling Wing.

Two additional aircraft will bring the total strength at O'Hare, Chicago, to 10 KC-135Es. Manpower will be increased by 22 full-time military personnel, 69 part-time Guardsmen and 15 civilian technicians.

The additional aircraft and positions will be instrumental in bringing federal funds into the state.

Benefits will be release of currently assigned Air Force active duty personnel for reassignment to higher priority missions, continued support of the Strategic Air Command mission at reduced costs by utilization of Air National Guard resources, and additional employment of both full-time and part-time personnel.

Warrant Officer Bud Roberts said, "The role of the Air National Guard is more dynamic and challenging than it has ever been. Throughout the 1980s, the Air Guard has become an integral and vital part of the total force."

"The importance of this role is evident in both operational and mission support areas. In both areas, the emphasis has been on modernization and growth. Today, the Air National Guard represents 17 percent of the air refueling tankers in the total Air Force picture."

Regional Computers powerful weapons in state's welfare fraud war

In less than three months, the Illinois Department of Public Aid's new high-tech Fraud Wars unit has been responsible for the indictments of 33 people charged with stealing more than $4 million.

Director Gregory L. Coler said the latest round of indictments charges native people in Chicago with using more than 50 identities to illegally receive nearly $650,000 in food stamps.

One woman, dubbed the "Sybil" of welfare fraud, is accused of receiving food stamps under 23 aliases. Mary Hatchett, 59, of Chicago's Southside, is charged with stealing more than $380,000.

"Welfare fraud is the same as walking into the state vault with a mask, and the penalties ought to be as stiff as that," Coler contended. "Today, we're talking about $650,000 in fraud. But what does that mean?"

That $650,000 could pay for food stamps for 360 families for a year, or support 165 families on AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children), or provide child care for 350 women who want to go to work, or pay for job training and placement for 275 people in Project Chance.

The other 113 indictments involved persons who allegedly collected cash welfare benefits while they had jobs that paid salaries above the limit to qualify for welfare.

"People have been ripping off the welfare system for years," Coler said. "They've been getting away with it because the system was so weighted down with 'red tape' and paperwork that it was physically impossible to keep track of."

"But all of that's changed now. We've got computers all over the state running 24 hours a day doing nothing but looking for fraud."

The investigation that resulted in the latest round of indictments began when a worker in a local-level office became suspicious about three food stamp cases.

Barbara Campos, an investigator in the Bureau of Special Investigations, began comparing characteristics of those cases with other food stamp recipients on the department's Fraud Wars computer and eventually turned up more than 50 fraudulent cases.

"Welfare reform is a hot topic these days," Coler said. "But as far as I'm concerned the first step in any real welfare reform has to be to clean up the system we already have."

Coler said Fraud Wars computers use sophisticated programs to compare various types of information about welfare recipients to search for people receiving benefits under more than one name.

The computers also compare information on recipients with information stored in the computers of other state departments, computers in other states and the records of private credit agencies.

"No one can outrun a computer," Coler said. "If someone is collecting benefits they don't deserve, we're going to get them."

"We're going to make welfare fraud a risky business in Illinois."

Pettit tries to 'raise concerns' about unionization

Though many professors at Southern Illinois University believe the school administration is fighting unionization of faculty, Chancellor Robert L. Pettit said he is trying to "raise some concerns."

Unions seeking an election include the Illinois Education Association-National Education Association, the Illinois Federation of Teachers/American Federation of Teachers and the American Association of University Professors.

They have filed for an election with the Illinois Educational Labor Relations Board, which continues to consider information on collective bargaining units and other matters.

An election could be as far away as next fall, some union representatives say.

Pettit said in an interview that collective bargaining could reduce the voice of faculty in university decisions.

"There is the danger that the union would squeeze the Faculty Senate out of the picture. The union in effect would become the only organization the administration could deal with," he said.

Faculty union representatives disagreed. Sheila Ruth of the IEA said a union could strengthen the voice of the faculty. Ruth, a philosophy professor, said the faculty's voice in governance matters has eroded over the years.

The creation in December of two new vice chancellors is further proof of erosion, she said. "What the faculty wants is to have the decent, rational, collegial form of decision-making," she said.

Pettit profers the collegiality we have traditionally associated with higher education," he said unionization would place faculty and the administration in an adversarial relationship.

"I'm concerned that we reinstate a sense of community at the university," Pettit said.

He called unionization "wholly inappropriate to a university of quality." Though there are exceptions, faculty top researchers and liberal arts colleges are not organized, he said.

Unions often insist that members be paid in "lock-step fashion" and discourage merit raises, Pettit added. Last month, Pettit wrote a letter to Gov. James Thompson and the media defending the university's position. He said it is not trying to break unions and respects the right of employees to organize.

Some faculty say the hiring by SIU of the Chicago law firm of Seyfarth, Shaw, Fairweather & Geraldson is proof it wants to stifle unionization attempts.

Seyfarth Shaw has a reputation of being a union-busting firm, union representatives said. Faculty have been critical of a $200,000 bill SIU paid the firm in the past two years to represent it in union matters.

"The chancellor is attempting to prevent some political damage by writing that letter (to the governor)," said David Hoffman of the Faculty Collective Bargaining at SIUE. The group is affiliated with the IFT.

Hoffmann, an education professor, said the hiring of the firm probably was not well received by area legislators because it has been called anti-labor.

"The firm and the firm should be called anti-labor merely because it specializes in representing management."
